

Performance and optimization of X-ray grating interferometry

A teoretical description of the performance of a Talbot and Talbot-Lau type interferometers is developed, providing a framework for the optimization of the geometry for both a monochromatic and a polychromatic source. Analytical formulas for the smallest detectable refraction angle and the visibility of the setup are derived.